Jellies, Otters, Fishes — Oh My! Virginia Aquarium's South Building Opens on Jan. 14

Virginia Aquarium is introducing new "friends" in its newly renovated South Building, which opens to the general public on Jan. 14. Residents and visitors can experience immersive activities with interactive exhibits, kids' play areas, a moon jelly touch pool, a veterinary care center, water quality lab and more. It's not like any "otter" aquariums! Speaking of otters — our furry friends, the North American River Otters, will join the other new species!

About the South Building

The Truth About the Impacts of Automated Tide Gates

The fact is automated tide gates help reduce the impact of floods in the city's most vulnerable areas. We separate myth from fact about automated tide gates, including myths about impacts to natural tidal patterns, water quality and downstream flooding.
