CITY OF
VIRGINIA BEACH

City departments need your feedback on three different transportation-related issues.

Managing transportation in Virginia Beach is a complicated issue that is important to everyone. Every day, it affects communities and individuals and involves multiple organizations at the local, state and national levels.

While the City of Virginia Beach is consistently working to improve transportation, City leaders are focused on three current projects — long-range transportation trends and needs, the safety of roadway users and ensuring resources are used equitably throughout Virginia Beach. Input from residents is critical to each of these projects. Learn more about each one and how you can weigh in.
