

Be in the Know

KEEPING RESIDENTS INFORMED + INVOLVED

Take Survey: Shape the Future of Rudee Park

Last week, the Rudee Park design team hosted three public engagement sessions to gather valuable input from Virginia Beach residents. These sessions were an opportunity for the community to voice their ideas and priorities, helping to shape the park into a space that reflects the collective vision of residents across Virginia Beach. Your participation in this process is essential, and we thank everyone who contributed their time and feedback.

We still need your input! If you haven't already, please take a moment to complete the Rudee Park survey by Jan. 10.

Together, we're building a world-class public park that embodies the vision and spirit of Virginia Beach. Thank you for being part of this journey!

Take Survey

Preserving Pleasure House Point

The Pleasure House Point Wetlands Restoration Project will re-establish approximately eight acres of tidal wetlands on City-owned property in the Pleasure House Point Natural Area. In the early 1970s, over a million cubic yards of dredged material was placed in the area, filling all of the historic tidal wetlands and altering its natural state. In 2012, the City of Virginia Beach and partners acquired and preserved Pleasure House Point, protecting it from potential development. Click below to learn five facts about the project.

Learn More

“Because Therapy Is Expensive,” Free Art Exhibit Now Open at Sandler Center

The latest Sandler Center for the Performing Arts Art Gallery exhibition invites you to a

Spreading Holiday Cheer: Wreaths at the Virginia Beach Municipal Center

In early December, as the smell of pine and evergreen filled the air, 54 talented volunteers captivating journey of paint, sweat and jokes featuring the whimsical art of Daniel Goodman.

Read More

created 46 unique wreaths now displayed on City buildings at the Municipal Center.

Learn More

Share

Tweet

Forward

viriniabeach.gov

City of Virginia Beach Communications
2401 Courthouse Drive, Virginia Beach, VA 23456 USA

View as Web Page • Update Profile • Unsubscribe